Mary Hensley

Mary Hensley

We are pleased to announce that Mary Hensley has accepted the position of interim director. Hensley will join the staff for the next several months while the health center completes its search for a permanent director.

"We're very fortunate to have Ms. Hensley joining the Thielen Student Health Center team," said

Dr. Thomas Hill, senior vice president for student affairs at Iowa State University. "She comes highly recommended, and her skill-set is a great fit for our current needs."

Hensley has a rich history working in a variety of administrative positions in health care, and she has a Master of Accountancy degree which included health and business administration components.

—Dr. Thomas Hill

Hensley retired from the University of Minnesota (Minneapolis) in 2012 where she last served as the director of the clinical neuroscience administrative center. During her time leading the administrative center, she worked with the departments of psychiatry, neurology, neurosurgery, otolaryngology, physical medicine and rehabilitation, and the graduate program in physical therapy.

Martino Harmon, associate vice president for student affairs, has served in the interim director role at Student Health since September 2014. He will be highly involved in the changeover of duties to Hensley.

"Dr. Harmon has played an integral role in leading Student Health as they transition into new management," said Hill. "His contributions have been many, and the health center has seen progress under his leadership."
